VEGETINE
WILL CURE RHEUMATISM.
MR. ALBERT CROOKER, the well-known druggist and apothecary of Springville, Me, always advises every one troubled with rheumatism to try Vegetine.

Read His Statement.

SPRINGVILLE, ME, Oct. 19, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir.—Fifteen years ago last fall I was taken sick with rheumatism and was unable to move until the next April. From that time until three years ago the fall I suffered everything with rheumatism. Sometime during winter before the three years I could not step one step; these attacks were quite often. I suffered everything that a man could, every three years; last spring I commenced taking Vegetine and followed it up until I had seven bottles; have no rheumatism since that time. I always advise every one who is troubled with rheumatism to try Vegetine and not suffer for years as I have done. This statement is gratuitous as far as Mr. Stevens is concerned. Yours, etc.,
ALBERT CROOKER,
Firm of A. Crooker & Co., Druggists and Apothecaries.

VEGETINE
Has Entirely Cured Me.
BOSTON, Oct., 1876.
MR. H. R. STEVENS:—
Dear Sir,—My daughter, after having a severe attack of Whooping Cough, was left in a feeble state of health. Being advised by a friend she tried the Vegetine, and after using a few bottles was fully restored to health.
I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. I have taken several bottles of the Vegetine for this complaint, and am happy to say it has entirely cured me. I have recommended the Vegetine to others with the same good results. It is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood; it is pleasant to take and I can cheerfully recommend it.
JAMES MORSE, 364 Athens street.

Rheumatism is a Disease of the Blood.

The blood, in this disease, is found to contain an excess of fibrin. Vegetine acts by converting the blood from its diseased condition to a healthy circulation. Vegetine regulates the bowels which is very important in this complaint. One bottle of Vegetine will give relief, but to effect a permanent cure it must be taken regularly, and may take several bottles, especially in cases of long standing. Vegetine is sold by all druggists. Try it, and your verdict will be the same as that of thousands before you, who say, "I never found so much relief as from the use of Vegetine," which is composed exclusively of barks, roots and herbs.

VEGETINE
Says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood purifier. Hearing of its many wonderful cures after all other remedies had failed, I visited the Laboratory, and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots, and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results."

Nothing Equal to It.
SOUTH SALEM, MASS., Nov. 14, 1876.
Dear Sir.—I have been troubled with Scrofula, Canker and Liver Complaint for three years. Nothing ever did me any good until I commenced using your VEGETINE. I am now getting along first rate, and still using the VEGETINE. I consider there is nothing equal to it for such complaints. Can heartily recommend it to everybody.
Yours truly,

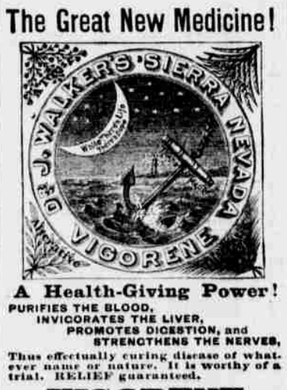
The Great New Medicine!



A Health-Giving Power!
PURIFIES THE BLOOD,
INVIGORATES THE LIVER, PROMOTES DIGESTION, and
STRENGTHENS THE NERVES,
Thus effectually curing disease of whatever name or nature. It is worthy of a trial. RELIEF guaranteed.
VIGORENE
Is AGREEABLE to the taste, GRATEFUL to the stomach, and acts efficiently as a CATHARTIC, ALTERATIVE and DIURETIC. Its action is not attended with any unpleasant feeling, neither is languor nor debility experienced, but on the contrary, refreshment and invigoration.
Its immediate effect upon the digestive organs, whether impaired by disease or exhausted from any cause, is to increase their powers of assimilation and nutrition, the appetite being increased at once. To those affected with an engorged condition of the liver, as Biliousness, characterized by a dusky complexion, a coated tongue, a pasty, bad taste in the mouth, a capricious appetite and sluggish action of the bowels, with a sense of fullness in the head and of mental dullness, VIGORENE proves most valuable.
Its effect upon the kidneys is no less happy, a turbid, irritating urine is quickly cleared up by it.
Inflammatory and Chronic RHEUMATISM will soon disappear by a persistent use of VIGORENE.
For the cure of Skin Diseases and Eruptions of all kinds, VIGORENE is most certain.
VIGORENE is composed of the active properties of HERBS, ROOTS, GUMS and BARKS, that Nature alone furnishes, great care being taken by us that they are gathered at the right season of the year, and that they possess their native virtues.
That VIGORENE has the power to PURIFY THE BLOOD, INVIGORATE the LIVER, and STIMULATE the DIGESTIVE ORGANS, is indisputably proven by those who have given it a trial and have been permanently cured.
We do not ask you to try a dozen bottles to experience relief, for we GUARANTEE you will feel better from the first few doses.
VIGORENE is astonishing the world with its cures, and is throwing all other TONICS, ALTERATIVES and INVIGORANTS, into the shade. Put up in large bottles, double strength. Requires small doses, and is pleasant to take.
Price, $1.00 per Bottle.

THE ETCHIN DIAMONDS.

Arthur Stangate, attorney-at-law, was my brother. He had succeeded to my father's business and no name was more esteem and trusted in all Runnington, and Runnington was a rich and important place. My brother's offices were in the town, two miles distant; but he did almost as much business among the gentry at his own private house.

Most of the great folks employed him; but his best client was Sir Etchin Eckford, a ci-devant Indian judge, very wealthy and the possessor of some rare and costly jewels, known in the country as the Etchin Diamonds. Their name even makes me shudder now.

One evening as Arthur was preparing to return to his office, where important business would detain him all night, Sir Etchin's groom left a parcel, with a note. The latter stated that the former contained the famous Etchin diamonds which their owner thought safest to intrust to Arthur's care, as he had been unexpectedly called to London.

"I don't care what deeds they leave with me," said my brother; "but I don't like such trusts as these. Still, I suppose I must keep them."

Of course he could not send them back; so taking the parcel, he at once proceeded to lock it in the iron safe. I went with him, and a woman's curiosity and love of jewelry, besought a peep at the gems before they were put away.

Arthur, the best brother in the world, instantly removed the paper covering, disclosing a square morocco box, brass bound, with the key tied to the bundle. Opening it, he showed me the gems. They were, indeed, magnificent, set in the massive Indian fashion, while many of the diamonds were yet uncut. One by one, bracelets, bangles, necklets, Arthur lifted, and flashed in the lamp-light before my dazzled vision.

He was holding a superb emerald and diamond necklet is his hand, for my admiration, when happening to raise my head, a cry of alarm burst from my lips.

"What is it, Nell?" asked Arthur.

Nevertheless, he flung up the window, called, and gazed in every direction. There was nothing—not a sign, not a sound; and assured as I was that I had been mistaken, he fastened the latch, and dropped the curtain.

As, however, he was about to put away the diamonds, I said, "Arthur, would it not be better to place them in the safe in your bedroom?"

He agreed in the advisability, and locked them up; then, having cautioned me to see well to the house fastenings, and asked again if I was really not frightened to remain alone a night with only the servants Jane and Jenkins, he left for town. I saw everything secure and went to bed early, locking Arthur's bedroom, and taking the key with me.

It was long before I slept. When I did, I was almost immediately aroused by a slight sound at my door. I asked who was there. Jane's voice answered in a cautious whisper. Seeing something was wrong, rising, I admitted her. No sooner had she entered than quickly closing, she fastened the door, and exclaimed, in accents of terror, "Oh, miss! what shall we do? For mercy's sake, make no noise—don't get a light. Burglars are breaking in the house, and I'm sure Jenkins is their accomplice."

"Burglars!" I cried. Then the thought of the face flashed across me. "Gracious powers?" I exclaimed, "they are after the Etchin diamonds!"

I saw it all. The groom's errand had been divined, my brother's absence was known, and by Jenkins' treacherous aid, the place was being attacked. I dropped stunned on the bed. Then I started up.

At any cost—even life—the diamonds intrusted to Arthur must be saved. Hurridly I dressed, and while doing so, heard the soft sound of persons moving in the house.

"Jane," I said, having explained all to the faithful girl, "I must get Sir Etchin's diamonds."

"How, miss?" If you go in the passage they'll murder you."

"True; therefore I must get out by the window. They will not hear, for they believe the box is in the study, and it will take them long to discover their mistake."

Opening the window, I got out on the veranda. How fearfully it sloped! Could I do it? Yes, by pressing my feet against the gutter. Slowly I went, foot by foot, until I reached Arthur's window. My heart leaped as I found it unfastened. Quickly I entered, opening and relocked the iron safe, and with the diamonds, more slowly and with greater difficulty returned.

Reaching my own room I did not enter, for what could helpless women do against strong evil men, bent on plunder? Instead, I ordered Jane to tear a sheet into threads, having attached which to the box, I bade her lower it to me, after I had descended the trellis.

She did as I directed, then joining me, we carrying the box between us, ran from the house.

We had not gone a dozen yards before the dread of pursuit and having the diamonds wrested from us, possessed me.

"Jane," I said, "this will never do. Let us make for the hollow oak. We can put the box in that; they'll never find it before help comes."

Hastening in the direction together, we managed to raise the box high enough to reach the hole, and I toppled it in. It fell with a heavy thud; I knew it was safe. I then told Jane to run to Hawthorn's, the nearest house, arouse the people, and bring some of the male servants back. She wanted me to go with her, but I dared not leave the neighborhood of the tree, lest any miserable chance should occur and the burglars find the treasure. Crouched among the bushes some yards off, I bade the girl hasten.

Scarcely had she gone than a noise in the house attracted my attention. My flight with the jewels was discovered. My heart stood still, and the blood in every vein turned cold. With Jenkins there were three of them. Through the darkness I could see they were beating and seaching the bushes. They had guessed we could not carry the box far, and evidently were in hopes of finding it before help come.

Twice, thrice, they approached so near to where I was, that my hair stood on one end. The fourth time it was Jenkins himself—I knew him, despite his crape mask—that drew aside the branches and discovered me.

With a cry I endeavored to fly, but the burglars instantly secured me. Hardly can I describe the scene that followed. It makes my flesh now creep with horror. They looked around for the box, and not finding it, with awful oaths and threats bade me say where it was. My only reply was to shriek aloud, until they checked me by blows, and finally by placing a pistol at my head. I implored mercy; but I remained firm. I felt my senses leaving me; they, too, saw it, and by twisting my arms to create exquisite torture, aroused me. At last one exclaimed, it won't do to fire. It'll bring others upon us. Gag her and take her along to the lake!"

To the lake! What were they going to do? Drown me? My brain swam; but I resolved to remain firm, and save the diamonds. Reaching the edge of the water, the villains, taking me by the shoulders, laid me back in the lake, pressing my head beneath. My mouth being gagged I could not cry out, and never shall I forget the horrible sensation. Surely I tasted death then!

Every few seconds they raised me to demand the whereabouts of the diamonds. I answered by a shake of the head. How long all this lasted I cannot tell; but unexpectedly a fearful noise sounded in my ears—I felt the water was rolling over me, and I was conscious no more.

The immersion caused the most curious sensation I ever fel

HON. J. HOWARD BEACH.

It is with sincere pleasure that we learn that the Democracy of Wayne county have instructed their delegates to support Mr. Beach in the coming State Convention for Secretary of Internal affairs. He served with credit in the Legislatures of 1872-3, and materially aided in the legislation calling the Constitutional Convention into existence, besides always voting against jobs and rings. His personal character is beyond reproach, as was evidenced by his unanimous election to the Legislature. He is both honest and capable.

We have not been in the habit of championing the cause of any candidate previous to the assembling of the Convention, but in this case we cannot refrain from endorsing the action of our Wayne county friends. Certainly north eastern Pennsylvania is entitled to recognition, especially when she presents so exceptionable a man as J. Howard Beach, —a tried business man and popular throughout the State.

THE BANKRUPT LAW.

Last Tuesday the United States Senate repealed the Bankrupt law. This law passed in March, 1867, has always been the cause of wide dissatisfaction and although efforts were made in 1868, 1870 and 1873 to amend it so as to remove the objectionable features, none have proved sufficiently effectual. At present the pressure for its repeal is very strong. Its objectionable features are many. Its operations are much impeded by our great extent of territory; and besides are manifestly unjust, a fact testified to by a large majority of the American people. So long as the present law is on the statute book any merchant or trader is liable to have his estate thrown into bankruptcy, his pecuniary credit and reputation ruined and his property subjected to losses and sacrifices in cases where in a legal sense he is perfectly solvent, where most of his creditors might be averse to any such measure, where if reasonable time were given he might pay his debts and have a surplus left, and where no act of fraud either of omission or commission is charged on him. It is only necessary that a man's commercial paper be unpaid for fourteen days to make his estate liable to bankruptcy. Bankrupt estates under this law are generally eaten up by charges and expenses. In New Orleans out of 1,800 cases, in only one, was any dividend realized. Its workings in New York and other large cities are nearly the same. If the house will pass this repeal act, within the next month, it will meet the hearty thanks of many business men all parts of the country.

BUTTER!

It may seem odd that an editor can escape from political questions, and come down to every day subjects. We are interested in "butter," and have been ever since pancakes were invented. In fact, we occasionally use the article. But we cannot understand why Columbia County should not stand preeminent as a butter producing County. Our soil is of the best, our market better than Bradford or Susquehanna, and yet there is not only a deficiency in the supply but the average quality is abominable.

In reply to a question as to how best to manufacture, pack and ship butter, a valued friend Hon. Shattuck of Chenango sent us a communication from which we condense the following:

In regard to the manufacture, I would recommend the securing of good cows, and feeding them plenty of good wholesome food and providing pure water.

Cleanliness in milking is very important. Have your milk room in coolest part of the house if you use small pans; if large pans are used, with water around the milk, it does not make so much difference about the location.

I am very much in favor of large pans, so the milk is mixed from the time it is strained until the cream is churned. I am of the opinion that the cream will rise better and be in better condition for churning, than when set in small messes.

The cream should be removed from the milk in from 36 to 48 hours; should never be allowed to stand longer than 48 hours, at any season of the year.

In warm weather the milk will whey and destroy the cream; and in cold weather the cream is likely to become bitter, and consequently spoil it for making a good article of butter.

I have no objection to the milk souring, or even becoming thick before the cream is removed, if there is no symptoms of whey.

Churn as often as you have sufficient cream for churning. I do not think it is best to keep it so long if hard enough to churn. When it is necessary to keep more than one day's cream for a churning, it should be well stirred every time you skim any new cream into your pail, that it may be thoroughly mixed. This I regard as very important.

When you have cream enough for a churning, in warm weather, cool your cream to 58 degrees and give your churn a motion that will fetch your butter in from forty to sixty minutes; then remove the butter from the buttermilk, washing it in two or three waters or until the water is clear; then salt with one ounce of salt to a pound of butter, and let it stand a few hours; then work it a little; let it stand a few hours longer and work again, adding more salt if necessary; now your butter is ready to pack to keep, or ship to market as you think best.

In manufacturing winter butter, I would warm the cream to 60 or 62 degrees, and in salting, would use three-fourths of an ounce of salt to one pound of butter, with saltpeter one ounce to 100 pounds, and one pound granulated sugar to 100 pounds butter, using carrot juice enough to give the butter a good rich color, about like June butter. I think carrots impart a good flavor to the butter. Work the same as in Summer, taking care to keep where it will not get too hard, until it is ready to pack and then keep it from freezing.

How to pack. Use such packages as the market for which your butter is intended like best. For Summer packages, I think our common firkins as good as any. For Spring and Fall fifty pound tubs are good.

I am engaged, as some of you know, in making winter butter and sending it to market in one pound prints; for packages I use good nice cheese hoops, holding 50 pounds and costing 16 cents each. They are the cheapest packages I have ever seen.

There is a firm in Philadelphia, that is making a patent package with ice chambers for sending milk in hot weather, but these are very heavy and cost high. I think the express charges would be very high on these and would not think it advisable to use them unless the butter could be sold high enough to make it pay.

In regard to shipping, I am of the opinion that it is best, as a general thing, to sell at home; but in case you send on commission send to a good responsible house that will give you quick returns, and you will be better satisfied than with some slow concern that gives you a better price.

In conclusion I would answer your question in a few words: Make the best butter you can. Pack in the best packages you can get, and get the best price you can either by selling at home or sending to some good commission house.

The Township Road Tax Question.

A question of importance to the supervisors of roads, and to every owner of a farm throughout the country, has been decided by the court in equity, in which the right of parties rated with road tax to work out the same has been defined. It was a test case, and came up in a bill for an injunction. Ovid F. Johnson, esq., represented the party asking for the injunction, and David Mumma, Son., represented the supervisor, defendant. The following is the copy of the opinion in full:

John Smith vs. Joseph Saul, supervisor. No. 38. Equity docket, application for special injunction granted.

Per curiam. This is a very small case to bring into a court of equity and we would certainly not give it any encouragement but for the purpose of suppressing an illegal practice, said to have long prevailed among the supervisors in this county. It is said to be a test case. The bill shows that the supervisor of Susquehanna township had the road taxes of said township assessed late in the fall of 1877 for said year. The complainant had called on the officer several times through the year, asking for an opportunity to work out the road tax on the farm on which he lived as a tenant. He was permitted to work to am't. of $3 33, but desired to work out the whole tax, which he has since learned was $15 94, but never had the opportunity, and early in 1878 the supervisor distrained and was about to sell his property for the residue of the tax. It is said to be the general practice in this and many other townships of Dauphin county to assess the tax for the year late in the fall. This is clearly illegal. When so done it is clearly impossible for the supervisor to comply with the law, or the citizen to know the amount thereof so as to work it out. It is the duty of the supervisor elected on the third Tuesday of February, soon after entering upon the duties of his office, to assess the tax for the year. He is governed by the valuation for county purposes, and if the necessities of the township, from the state of the roads require it, may call to his assistance the assessor of last year's tax, and levy his for the coming year, but generally it may be more prudent to await the settlement of the tax on each piece of property for the three years, after the appeals are over, and immediately lay the road tax, not exceeding one per cent., on the county valuation. This tax must immediately be entered in a book, to which each person owing road tax can have free access to see the amount of his taxes, and the supervisor must allow each person an opportunity to work it out, by giving public notice of the time and place of labor. This book must be kept by the township treasurer, where they have one. If none has been selected it must be kept by the supervisor, who is subject to a heavy penalty for refusing its inspection. It is very clear that this assessment and book would be useless if not made out until the fall of the year after the working season is over.

It has been decided by the supreme court that it is illegal for a supervisor to enter into such contracts for making the roads as would preclude the citizen the opportunity to work out his tax. Building bridges on a highway by the township is made an exception. Where a road tax was assessed and the taxpayer refused the opportunity to work it out, the supervisor was restrained by an injunction from collecting it on a warrant. The privilege of working out the tax is a right clearly conferred by act of assembly, Miller vs. Simons & Preston, 3 Wright, 309. We are, therefore, clearly of the opinion that it was the duty of the supervisor in the present case and in every case to assess the road tax early in the season, and give the citizen of the township a full opportunity to work it out provided he attends after reasonable public notice at the time and place fixed by the supervisor. If he neglects, after such notice, and the officer is obliged to hire men to perform the duty, this tax can be collected in money.

It is said that the practice of assessing has grown up in this county under an idea that the tax could not be fixed until after the road expenses of the year are fully known. This is a mistake. The supervisor, like county commissioners, must estimate what will be required. It is also said that the amount of tax and the wages of labor are directed by the township auditors. They have nothing to do with either, but can see that there is no abuse of discretion, improper acts, dishonest conduct, or waste of public money by the supervisors. The injunction must be continued in this case until the coming of the answer.

JOHN J. PEARSON,
President Judge.

—Patriot.

Fitz John Porter to Have a Hearing.

Fitz John Porter having appealed to Mr. Hayes for a review of his case, the following has been received from the war department:

"In order that the President may be fully informed of the facts in the case of Fitz John Porter, late major general of volunteers, and be enabled to act advisedly upon his application for relief in such case, a board is hereby convened by order of the President to examine, in connection with the record of the trial by court martial of General Porter, such new evidence relative to the merits of his case as is now on file in the war department, together with such other evidence as may be presented to said board, and to report with the reasons for their conclusion, what action, if any in their opinion justice requires should be taken on said application by the President. Detail for the board: Major General J. M. Schofield, Brigadier General A. H. Terry, Colonel G. W. Getty, Third Artillery. Major Asa B. Gardner. The board will convene at West Point, New York, on the 20th day of June, 1878, and is authorized to adjourn from time to time, and to sit in such place as may be deemed expedient. By command of General Sherman."

Jack Kehoe Hopeful.

Pottsville, Pa., April 12.—Jack Kehoe, who was to have been hung in Pottsville on the 18th of April, was this afternoon informed of the governor's action in withdrawing his death warrant for the present. He has had hopes all along that the board of pardons might give his case a favorable consideration and was overcome with joy when informed of the news, remarking: "Well, thank God; perhaps they will do something for me yet." He feels confident that his sentence will be commuted and that in the course of time his innocence of the crime will become apparent and ultimately lead to a full pardon.

The bill to enable defendants in all criminal cases to testify as witnesses, and when two or more defendants are jointly indicted, to have the right to demand separate trials, passed third reading in the house. The bill extends the right to testify to persons accused of felonious homicide. Under the law it is discretionary with the court to grant separate trials except in cases of homicide. By the present bill the demand can be made in all criminal cases. The house does not appear to have attached much weight to the argument of the opponents of this bill that it would encourage perjury on the part of persons accused of wilful murder. When the bill was on final passage Mr. Spang of Bedford made an able and effective speech in its support.

The proposed new party—technically known as "Nationals" for the time being,—bases its demand for popular recognition on the fact that it claims to have a superior method of finance. It is a little singular that the putative fathers of this bastard, who talk so glibly about how the government should manage its finances, are men who have never been able to successfully manage their own affairs.

Our economic legislators at Harrisburg have appropriated $4,000 for an investigation to look after a $19,000 fee, which everybody knew was at all events technically legal, and could not be recovered. Adjourn gentlemen. —Press,

THE MONEY QUESTION.

MAINVILLE, Columbia county, Pa.

MESSRS. BROCKWAY & ELWELL—Sirs: Seeinig a number of articles by different writers on the financial question in nearly all the city and country papers, and about as many different views and ideas to prove that they are the true and only ones to solve this great question.

As it may not be out of place to give some of the facts as I have collected them from different reliable sources on the money question; although I may differ from a great many, especially the money kings, all I ask is to read it, and if any have anything better, let us have it in print; we want all the light on the money question we can get. The first question then is, what is money?

1st. Money is any piece of metal stamped by national authority and used as the circulating medium of commerce.

2nd. Money is any piece of paper issued by public authority as bank notes or bills of credit, and exchangeable for coin or redeemable in specie.

3d. Money is legal currency and the conventional measure of value, the common medium of exchange in civilized countries by which the values of commodities are estimated as our lawful money, the national greenbacks or the paper money of the United States, not exchangeable for coin or redeemed in specie; they have a legal value the same as coin in the cancellation of debts and redeemed in other notes of the same kind, but never in coin. Then money is the instrument of measure which people use in exchanging articles or objects of desire, also a standard by which values are measured. Every article has two values, real value in use, and exchange value, or what others are willing to give to obtain it. That the value of money depends upon the material of which it is made is false and erroneous. Misconception of the nature of money is of long standing. Money cannot be used as an article of actual value, like food or clothing. If a man be lost on the open sea, no kind of money can supply his hunger or contribute to a single want. Society is always necessary before money can possess any function of value or usefulness whatever. Money even then must have a legal existence, and must be a national representative of value, not value itself, but a thing used, a symbol to represent and measure value, and is a public lien on all the property in the nation, and a legal tender in payment of all debts that none can successfully refuse. Wheat, land or cattle are values, not money or legal tender, for the payment of debts and dues. Money is a means, a contrivance, a convenience, a machine to help and hasten the transaction of business, and the exchange of articles. Money is not capital, it only represents the value of capital. There would be no use for money unless capital first existed. Where capital exists, money is as necessary to represent and exchange its value, as it is to furnish a legal bushel measure, to estimate and exchange wheat; the greater the capital the more money required to measure and exchange it. Money is the greatest, and the most controlling influence of all earthly powers; it determines the rate per cent that shall be paid for the use of all property. A nation's money intimately affects each individual, and should be well understood in all its bearings and its relation to the people; for unless well understood and regulated, instead of serving our needs as an angel of mercy, it becomes the most powerful engine of evil and oppression ever created. The subject may seem dry and uninteresting, but it must be mastered and learned, unless slavery, ignorance and poverty be sweeter than liberty, knowledge and equality. Hard money made from metals as gold and silver, must be limited by reason of their scarcity of production from the mines, which cannot furnish a sufficient quantity to meet the requirements of any civilized nation. It is estimated that if all the gold now on hand was coined into one dollar pieces, it would prove insufficient to furnish each inhabitant with a dollar. What answered the requirements of heathen nations or feudal times cannot supply the needs of civilization and the progresive age of art and science.

Again, money made from metals proving inadequate to the demands and needs of progressive nations a resort to credit was the next step towards reform. Banks were established and paper money printed and issued promising to redeem the same in coin, whenever presented by the holders at the bank of issue. Bankers finding it unnecessary to keep coin constantly hoarded up in their vaults, sufficient to redeem each dollar of paper circulating among the people, contracted the amount of metal money and increased the issue of paper money, and thus obtained interest or rent on money that was not represented by metal money; and the customers who borrowed from the banks felt safe and secure, while the banks held enough metal money to redeem what paper money might be presented. The banks soon issued one hundred dollars in notes, with only fifty dollars coin to represent them. In our own country before the late war, a bank with one hundred thousand dollars in coin issued five hundred thousand dollars in paper money, receiving interest on five dollars in paper for every one dollar of metal money. Thus paper money represented by coin commanded five times the amount of rent or interest of the metal money. If paper money be represented by specie a silver or gold dollar must stand behind every paper dollar in circulation. One metal dollar in the bank cannot represent ten paper dollars in circulation; for any man holding one paper dollar can take it, and the other nine paper dollars are destitute of a specie basis, and must rest on credit. Governments have falsely assumed that the value of money consists in the inherent worth of the metals of which it has been coined; the laws of nations prove it false, for every civilized government has authorized paper money resting on stocks, bonds, &c.

A Much Needed Reform.

From all we can learn the hanging of the trio of Mollie Maguires at Bloomsburg, recently, brought to that generally peaceful borough a regular horde of law breakers, whose chief object seemed to be to make the day remembered for drunkenness, riot and debauchery. It was a sad and demoralizing sight which the citizens of that place pray never to see again. And what took place at Bloomsburg is repeated at nearly every place where executions occur. And the demoralization is not alone what proceeds from a drunken ignorant mob. The social atmosphere is contaminated with the sensational and imaginative reports, the work of hired reporters. These reports, sent abroad through the press, wherein every saying and action of the culprit is recorded, touched up and exaggerated, until he is made to appear as a martyr or hero. The effect is to warp the young mind and lead it to condone the crime of the offender, and place society in the act of committing a flagrant act of inhumanity and wrong.

There is but one way to work a reform. Let executions be, as the law contemplates, private. Allow no one to be present but the jury of witnesses, sheriff and assistants. Or, probably what the Phila. Times advocates, might be adopted. In lieu of the present system of strangulation, it proposes the following:

"When the sentence of death is pronounced let the door forever shut on the malefactor. After giving him every chance to make preparation for another world, let the officers of law, accompanied by skillful scientific help, unostentatiously and unknown to the outside world, turn into the cell one of the many gases known to be fatal to human life. The victim of the law's sentence dies without a struggle. There is no opportunity for a display of the heroic; no chance to 'die game.' The law is satisfied, and the thing is done decently."—Danville Intelligencer.

MRS TILTON CONFESSES TO THE CHARGES MADE BY HER HUSBAND.

NEW YORK April 15.—The following from Mrs. Tilton will appear in the morning papers to-morrow:

MR. IRA B. WHEELER My Dear Sir: A few weeks since, after long months of mental anguish, I told, as you know a few friends, whom I had bitterly deceived, that the charge brought by my husband of adultery between myself and the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was true and that the lie I have lived so well the last four years had become intolerable to me. That statement I now solemnly reaffirm and leave the truth with God to whom I also commit myself, my children and all who must suffer. I know full well the explanations that will be sought by many for this acknowledgment of a desire to return to my husband—insanity, malice, everything save the true and only one, my quickened conscience and the sense of what is due the cause of truth and justice. During all the complications of these years you have been my confidential friend, and therefore I address this letter to you, authorizing and requesting you to secure its publication.

(Signed) ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

BROOKLYN, April 15, 1878.

HENRY WARD DENIES THE SOFT IMPEACHMENT.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Mr. Beecher was out of the city to-night when Mrs. Tilton's letter was made public and his whereabouts was not known save to a few friends. The New York Tribune telegraphed him a copy of the letter at a late hour to-night and received the following in reply from Mr. Beecher:

WAVERLY, N. Y., April 15, 1878—To the Editor of the New York Tribune: I confront Mrs. Tilton's confession with an explicit and absolute denial. The testimony to her own innocence and to mine, which for four years she had made to hundreds in private and public, before a court in writing and orally, I declare to be true and the allegations now made in contradiction of her uniform, solemn and unvarying statements hitherto made I utterly deny. I declare her to be innocent of the great transgression.

(Signed) HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Another Mollie Murderer Convicted.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., April 15.—In the case of the Mollie, James M'Donnell, charged with the murder of George K. Smith in this county, in 1862, the jury to-day returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree after four hours deliberation. Durkin and Sharp, two other men charged with participation in the same crime, will now be put on trial.

William M. Tweed died last Friday in the Ludlow street Jail New York City. He held many responsible positions in the city and State. For his dishonesty and fraud he got into trouble and after living in splendor for many years on his peculations he died a miserable man, in a prison cell.

Why don't you stop that cough? Its the simplest thing in the world, and can be done by using Dr. Coxe's Wild Cherry and Sch. Lozenges 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did me no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to, say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost—I know it.

Treasurer's Sale of Unseated Lands in Columbia County, Pa.

By virtue of sundry acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, relating to the sale of seated and unseated lands in the County of Columbia etc. for taxes due and unpaid, I will offer at public sale at the Court House in the Town of Bloomsburg on the second MONDAY OF JUNE A. D. 1878.

At 10 o'clock a. m., the following described pieces of land, or such part thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount of taxes due and unpaid against the same, and continue the same from day to day as the same may be found necessary.

TERMS OF SALE

The amount of taxes and costs must be paid when the land is struck off, or the sale may be avoided and the property put up and resold.

Next Sunday will be Easter.

Sullivan county now has an excellent weekly paper, the Dushore Review.

On last Tuesday Mr. Zarr found his horse dead in the stable.

The COLUMBIAN is now the only Democratic paper published in this county. Subscribe for it.

A railroad ticket to Chicago and back for sale at this office very cheap. Good until December 31st 1878. tf

Mr. Jasper Clark having retired from the hotel at Laporte, has been succeeded by Mr. C. R Funston, formerly of Catawissa.

C. M. Christman has removed his harness making and saddlering establishment to the rear of the Central Hotel.

It is the only medicine I would give to my Baby, a mother said, speaking of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. At all drug stores, 25 cents.

The delegates from Columbia county to the Republican State Convention are C. G Jackson and J. C. Brown. Colonel S. Knorr was nominated for Senatorial delegate.

High living cannot be indulged in without disagreeable consequences. If you feel that your blood is out of order use Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture.

Men who talk about the Democratic platforms of 1868 and 1875 should remember that we got whipped on them and that inviting deserved defeat is never policy.

Pork is quite as necessary to the family of the poor man as milk, and the cheaper he can get it, the better it is for him. Why not petition the Town Council to let the pigs run at large?

SINGULAR.—We know of a lot of men who understand our national financial system thoroughly,—so they say—that would not do a day's work at any price. They call themselves "Nationals."

"BUTTERICK'S SUMMER FASHIONS," Just out, is the earliest and largest edition of patterns ever issued. Ladies should enclose a stamp for the summer illustrated Fashion Paper to J. G. Ramsdell, 1113 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

T. W. Conner returned from Philadelphia the latter part of last week, and has since received an entirely new stock of groceries, &c. He is one of our most enterprising young merchants, and his business is rapidly increasing.

The little brook that dances to the music of its own rippling over its pebbled bed flows on until lost in the deep, boundless sea. Dr. Coxe's Wild Cherry and Seneka has already become indispensible to the great sea of humanity. Price 25 and 50 cents.

We are informed by one of the boss "Nationals" that we were in error in stating that there was any secrecy in the order. We made the statement from information in our cotemporaries where the new party has a firmer hold than it has in Democratic Columbia.

For the first time in many years General Tom Thumb and wife will appear in Bloomsburg, on the 26th inst. They bring with them several other little people, and will give an entertainment at the Opera House which every body will attend. Tom Thumb always draws good houses, and of course will do so here.

DANVILLE & HAZLETON ROAD.—The Danville, Hazleton & Wilkesbarre Railroad is to be reorganized and will practically be under control of the Penn'a. railroad company. The Danville Intelligencer says: The road up the river, put down on the opposite side between Bloomsburg and Wilkesbarre—the "Wallet" road—is to be completed, and bonds are to be immediately issued to effect that object.

NEW BAKERY.—J. F. Caldwell, of Bloomsburg, has opened a Bakery and Confectionery store in the building recently occupied by Mrs. I. M. Housel, on Market street. Mr. C. does business on a sound basis; he says, "I do not give more goods for the same money than any one in Northumberland, but as much and as good." Bread and Cakes of all kinds always on hand, or baked to order.—Northumberland Press.

SHOOTING THE SPARROWS.—A citizen discovered that the English sparrows, which abound so numerously in the borough, are destroying the fruit, He watched them closely yesterday as they perched on the fruit trees and picked the buds. He is confident they have already destroyed much fruit, and threatens to go gunning for them with fine shot. Alas! is it for this we fed the sparrows all last winter?—Chronicle.

ROPE JUMPING—A WARNING.—Now as the pleasant weather is at hand the chief pastime with the young girls will be "jumping the rope." They should be very careful not to jump too long, and not exhaust themselves thereby preventing any fatal results. In New York, on Saturday last, a little girl named Corcoran jumped a rope three hundred times without stopping, and now lies in a precarious condition,

A man and woman reported as coming from Danville, after indulging freely in the contents of a black bottle last Friday, became disorderly and were locked up by Chief of Police Sterner and Constable Thomas. The woman had spent the day in peddling pins and needles and telling a pitiful story. Those who patronized her will be pleased to learn of the use to which she appropriated the money, and that they were indirectly instrumental in affording this nice couple a free lodging in the lock up.

While the ordinance prohibiting cattle from running at large remains unrepealed, it should be enforced. Many people appear to think that because there is a prospect of its repeal, they are at liberty to allow their cows to roam through the streets. We are glad to note the fact that our town officers whose duty it is to see that the town laws are observed, are vigilant in the exercise of their duties, and that almost daily, droves of cows are driven to the pound. The observance of law is the corner stone of civil liberty.

FOR SCHOOL DIRECTORS.—It has been decided by the Attorney General and State Superintendent of Public Instruction that under the new Constitution, school directors can elect as county, city or borough superintendents of schools, persons residing outside of the county in which the election takes place, and they are not even confined to the State. Thus at the next election, the directors of Chester county may elect a person from Lancaster county, or from the State of New York, as our County Superintendent.—Jeffersonian.

NOTICE TO COLLECTORS.—Collectors of county taxes in arrear, are hereby notified that the same must be settled during May Court.

H. W. MCREYNOLDS, Treas.

April 5-4w

The Republican Convention on Saturday last was even more slimly attended than that of the Nationals. The resolutions were of the same "cut and dried" character, and the standing delegates, Knorr, Jackson and Brown, were selected. Knorr represented Orange township, it seems. No instructions. Beckley didn't go because of Hayes' Civil Service ideas, and therefore sent his partner, who is not the Post Master.

The Emma Abbott Concert Co. will give an entertainment in Danville this (Friday) evening. Their entertainments are really first class, as all those who have heard them will testify. The price of reserved seats has been reduced to 50 cents. Excursion tickets will be sold from Berwick, Bloomsburg and Catawissa, and all will be enabled to return immediately after the performance. Reserved seats or any information can be secured here of George A. Clark.

MUSICAL COLLEGE.—Spring session of six weeks begins on Thursday, May 2d, 1878.

Freeburg Snyder Co. Pa.

March 29 4w.

DIED.—Bernard Dougherty, late Treasurer of Montour county, departed this life on Wednesday, the 10th inst., being 38 years of age. Mr. Dougherty leaves a family of several young children, who are now parentless, his wife having died not long since. The deceased was a local politician of some note and took an active part in the campaigns of the past several years. The funeral will take place from his residence on Mill street, at 3 o'clock p. m. to-day.—Danville Intelligencer.

On last Friday morning, as the Sheriff went in to feed his lambs, viz: Harry Faux, Bob Stewart and ——— Young, who were confined for some petty crimes, he discovered that they had left. The mode of escape was by getting through the floor by means of a heated poker, and then it was an easy matter to make a hole through the rickety wall. The aperture was a very small one, but it seems to have answered the purpose. No reward has been offered, and perhaps it is better, if they will only keep out of the County.

FEELS YOUNG AGAIN.—"My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy, inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicine did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady, Providence, R. I.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN DIETRICK.—Captain Jacob Dietrick, of Berwick, long a respected and useful citizen, died there on last Tuesday, in the 72d year of his life. He was an elder brother of Hon. Aaron J. Dietrick, City Recorder of Williamsport, and the father of Charles M. Dietrick, merchant in this city, and Jacob W. and Joseph Dietrick, printers, who with many other mourning relatives and friends deplore his early departure. Jacob W. Dietrick, the subject of this notice, was a quiet, affable citizen and an humble Christian—in every respect a good man—and, having outlived his three wives, he was a widower at the time of his death.—Sun.

NEW COUNTY OF LACKAWANNA.

The bill creating the new county of Lackawanna was signed by Governor Hartranft Wednesday morning. The new county of Lackawanna will contain a population of nearly 100,000 people. The population of the remaining portion of the old county of Luzerne, from which Lackawanna was formed, stands at about the same figure. In 1870 the population of the old county was 161,000. Scranton, which is to be the county seat of the proposed new county, has a population of nearly 50,000. Lackawanna will be the sixty-seventh county in the State, in the order of organization. Cameron county has been styled the last "new" county since the year 1807.

PANIC PRICES, COMPETITION DEFIED.—No rent to pay and patrons to receive the benefit. C. M. Christman's saddlery shop can now be found in the rear of the Central Hotel in connection with his livery stable. You are invited to call, and you will go away satisfied with his prices and the work. New harness made to order and repairing done the neatest, cheapest and at the shortest notice.

In his livery stable he cannot fail to please all and at reasonable rates. Carriages delivered to any part of the town. Give him a call.

BUCK HORN.—On Friday and Saturday night of last week excellent entertainments were given at the Buck Horn School House for the benefit of the band. The programme was a varied one consisting of music by the band, orchestra, violin duetts, dialogues, vocal music, &c. Many Bloomsburgers were present Friday evening when our famous quartette put in an appearance. Where all was good it would be invidious to name any special performance, but we cannot refrain from commending little Johnny Hartman for good acting. The Band, as we all know, is a splendid one, and the orchestra deserves all praise. But of course our Quartette Club carried off the honors of the evening.

TO THE SCHOOL DIRECTORS OF COLUMBIA COUNTY.

GENTLEMEN:—In pursuance of the forty-third section of the act of 8th of May, 1854, you are hereby notified to meet in convention, at the Court House, in Bloomsburg, on the first Tuesday in May, A. D. 1878, being the 7th day of the month, at one o'clock in the afternoon, and select, viva voce, by a majority of the whole number of directors present, one person of literary and scientific acquirements, and of skill and experience in the art of teaching within three years, as County Superintendent, for three succeeding years; determine the amount of compensation for the same; and certify the result to the State Superintendent, at Harrisburg, as required by the thirty ninth and fortieth sections of said act.

WM. H. SNYDER,
County Superintendent of Col. Co.

THE NATIONAL'S TICKET.

A few centuries ago some over-pious Puritans met in joint Convention and substantially

Resolved, First, the earth is the Lords, and belongs to his saints.

Second. We are his saints.

About the same thing occurred at the farce called a Convention of the "Nationalists" held here on Tuesday last. There are already dissensions in the so-called party, and in order to have perfect harmony we suggest the following ticket:

Governor—F. W. Hughes.
Lieutenant Governor—V. E. Piolett.
Sec. Int. Affairs—As there was no delegate present who wanted this office we will leave it to be filled hereafter.
Judge Supreme Court—A. C. Smith.
Congress—E. E. Orvis.
Senate—E. M. Tewksbury.
Legislature—H. E. Smith, Russel Karns.
Prothonotary—C. C. Marr.
Register and Recorder—Cyrus Robbins.
Treasurer—Jackson Hower.
Commissioners—A. B. Herring, S. M. Pealer, Emanuel Snyder

This is an equitable division, because it gives not only each delegate an opportunity for office, but the place he wants. If the nominees want to change the order of business call on us.

THE NEW PARTY.

The "Nationals" it appears have at last struck us. By an accident we learned that they were holding a Convention at Sterner's Hall, and got leave to attend. The Convention consisted mainly of Rev. E. E. Orvis, once a Democrat, and Hon. A. C. Smith, once a Republican. There were about fifteen delegates present. The Chairman, Mr. Hartman,—an amiable man—came here to attend a funeral, and admits he was "roped in." Squire Jamison of Main also stated that he had not been elected by any body as a delegate, but brother Smith persuaded him that that did not make any difference. It was a remarkably harmonious Convention, and Smith and Orvis were unanimous in making and seconding motions. Out of pure generosity they did allow, however, a couple of self-elected delegates to read some resolutions which had been previously prepared by the new firm of Smith & Orvis, but when handed them, they evidently knew they were not "Greenbacks." So, readers of the COLUMBIAN, behold the new party and its leaders. The mountain in its labors has brought forth a mouse. We append a report of the formal proceedings.

Bloomsburg, April 16th, 1878. Pursuant to the call previously published, a convention was held in the Hall of the Central National Club in Bloomsburg, for the purpose of effecting a provisional organization of the National Party in Columbia county. The convention met at 11 o'clock a. m., and without organizing, adjourned to meet again at 2 o'clock p. m.

2 o'clock p. m. met pursuant to adjournment. On motion W. M. Hartman of Hemlock twp., was elected Chairman, and Cyrus Robbins of Fishingcreek, was elected Secretary.

The roll of delegates was then made out as follows:

Benton—Alex. McHenry, Russel Karns.
Bloom East—E. E. Orvis, C. C. Marr.
Bloom West—A. C. Smith, Jackson Hower.
Greenwood—Samuel Musgrave, S. M. Pealer.
Fishingcreek—Cyrus Robbins, Clarence Price.
Orange—A. B. Herring, Emanuel Snyder.
Maine—J. R. Jameson.
Madison—Wm. Johnson.
Hemlock—W. M. Hartman.

On motion, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

1. Resolved—That we, in special county convention assembled, do heartily endorse and approve the platform of principles adopted by the National party at Toledo, Ohio, on the 22nd day of February last, and that we will use our utmost endeavors to have those measures carried into effect in the administration of this government, to the end that business may revive, and labor find steady employment and adequate reward, and prosperity be again restored to our country.

2. Resolved—That, in furtherance of this object, we now proceed to effect a provisional organization of the National party in Columbia county.

1st. By appointing a Chairman and Secretary of an Executive Committee.

2nd. By selecting one member of the Executive Committee for each election district in the county, so far as we may be able to do so at the present time; and that any vacancies in said committee may be filled by the committee itself.

3rd. That the Executive Committee be directed to appoint a Vigilance Committee of from three to five members in each election district in the county.

3. Resolved—That the regular County Convention of the National party of Columbia county, for the nomination of candidates for the several county officers, shall be held in Bloomsburg on the first Tuesday of August next, and each year thereafter, commencing at 10 o'clock p. m., and that the election of delegates from each election district, and one member of the Executive Committee, shall be held at the usual polling places at 3 o'clock on the Saturday preceding the first Tuesday of August, under the control of the members of the Executive Committee, and the Vigilance Committee; and said delegates may be instructed in such manner as may be deemed most advisable by the respective voters who shall vote at said delegate election.

On motion, A. B. Herring of Orange was elected Chairman of the Executive Committee, and H. E. Smith, Secretary.

The delegates present were directed to hand into the Chairman and Secretary of the Executive Committee the names of suitable persons, from the several voting districts to serve as members of the Executive Committee.

On motion of C. C. Marr, the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolved—That A. C. Smith, Esq., John K. Lockard and Clarence Price be, and they are hereby appointed Congressional Conferees, to meet with the Conferees that are or may be appointed from the other counties of the 11th Congressional District to nominate a suitable candidate for Congress. And that E. E. Orvis, Esq., H. E. Smith, Esq., and Dennis McDonald, be, and they are hereby appointed Senatorial Conferees, to meet the conferees of the other counties comprising the 24th Senatorial District, to nominate a suitable candidate for State Senator; and that each of said Conferees shall have the power of substitution.

On motion of Emanuel Snyder, the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolved—That E. E. Orvis, Esq., and A. C. Smith, Esq., be, and they are hereby appointed Representative Delegates to attend the State Convention of the National party to be held in Philadelphia on the 8th day of May next; and that the Senatorial Conferees appointed by this convention be authorized to confer with those of the other counties of this Senatorial District, in the appointment of a Senatorial Delegate.

On motion the convention then adjourned.

AN UNJUST VERDICT.

If one of the many "put up" medicines prove ineffectual, all are condemned as nostrums. Is this right? Are all American citizens denounced as traitors because Benedict Arnold committed treason? Some refuse to use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines, simply because they have used others without benefit. Dr. Pierce's preparations possess actual merit, and, if taken when indicated, the most sanguine expectations will be realized. His Golden Medical Discovery is the standard alterative and blood-purifier in the market. Thousands of testimonials from those it has cured of consumption, dyspepsia, liver complaint, and various forms of skin diseases, are on file in the Doctor's office, certifying to its efficacy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is relied upon by women to cure the many weakness and irregularities peculiar to their sex. For further information see the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of nearly 1000 pages. Over one hundred thousand copies sold. Price $1.50, post-paid. Address the author, R. CINDERS IN THE EYE.

Persons traveling much by railway are subject to continual annoyance from the flying cinders. On getting into the eyes they are not only painful for the moment, but are often the cause of long suffering that ends in a total loss of sight. A very simple and effective cure is given by the Mining and Scientific Press, and is within the reach of every one, and would prevent much suffering and expense were it more generally known. It is simply one or two grains of flaxseed. It is said that they may be placed in the eye without injury or pain to that delicate organ, and shortly they begin to swell and dissolve a glutinous substance that covers the ball of the eye, enveloping any foreign substance that may be in it. The irritation or cutting of the membrane is thus prevented, and the annoyance may soon be washed out. A dozen of these grains stowed away in the vest pocket may prove, in an emergency, worth their number in gold.

ALEXANDER W. ROBISON.

On Monday the last sad rites were performed for Alexander W. Robison, at his late residence. Rev. Dr. Ferrier, of the Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. B. T. Vincent, of the M. E. Church, conducted the services. The Presbyterian choir was present and rendered appropriate music. The funeral was one of the largest Mauch Chunk has ever seen. The interment took place at Upper Mauch Chunk cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. H. Siewers, Robert Calvin, C. M. Ecert, Wm. C. Morris, jr., D. G. Bensch and Sheriff Randenbush. The death of Mr. Robison leaves Mauch Chunk to mourn his loss. He was a kind and charitable gentleman, and many mourn his sudden death.—Mauch Chunk Democrat.

IF YOU WANT TO BE STRONG, HEALTHY and Vigorous, take E. F. Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron. No language can convey an idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change produced by taking E. F. Business Notices.

Various Causes—

Advancing years, care, sickness, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them inclines it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light and red hair to a rich brown or deep black as may desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action, and removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak or sickly hair, to which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its operation, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts. It contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil or color white cambric; yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous.

Young Folks.

The Three Horse-Shoes:

OR MARSHAL DE SAXE AND THE DUTCH BLACKSMITH.

Maurice de Saxe was a son of the King of Saxony, and a fine lad he was—tall and strong and handsome, and as brave as a lion. But the king, like a certain old woman of whom you may have heard, had so many children that he didn't know what to do; and so, as Maurice had such a lot of elder brothers as to have not much chance of inheriting the crown, or anything else that would keep him in bread and butter, his father sent him ont to seek his fortune, like many other princes in those days. So he went over to France, and entered the army of King Louis XV.

Now, at that time there was always a war going on somewhere or other, and the French armies were fighting in every part of Europe; and the king cared very little who his officers were, or where they came from, if they were only brave men and clever fighters, and ready to go wherever he liked to send them. So, as you may think, it was not long before our friend Maurice, who was quite as brave as any of them, and a good deal cleverer than most, began to make his way. First, he got to be a lieutenant, then a captain, then a major, then a colonel, and at last, while he was still quite a young man, he came out as Count de Saxe, and Field-Marshal of the Army of Flanders, with fifty-thousand men under him! That was pretty good promote, wasn't it?

Curiously enough, the one thing that this great general specially prided himself upon was neither his skill in warfare nor his favor at court, but simply his strength. There was nothing he enjoyed so much as showing off the power of his muscles, and astonishing the people about him by bending an iron bar, or felling a horse with one blow of his fist; and he was fond of saying that he would give his purse and all the money in it to any man who was stronger than himself, if he could ever fall in with him.

Now, it happened that, one day, while the French and German armies were laying pretty close to each other, Marshal de Saxe sent a message to the enemy's camp, asking some of the German officers to dine with him; and after the meal he began to boast of his strength, as usual, till at last an old German general, who sat at his left, said that he would like to see a specimen of what his Excelleney could do. Saxe made no answer, but took up a large silver dish, which was standing before him, in his strong white fingers (for, big and powerful as his hands were, they were white and smooth as any lady's, and he was very proud of them), and, without more ado, rolled it up like a sheet of paper!

"Can your Honor unroll that dish again?" asked he, handing it to the German; and although the general was a strong man, and tried his best, he found the task too hard for him, and was forced to own himself beaten.

"Your Excellency's strength is very great," said he, "but, nevertheless, I venture to think that there is one man in Flanders who can match it."

"And who may he be?" asked Saxe, frowning.

"A blacksmith in the village of Scheveningen, Dirk Hogan by name. All the country around knows of his exploits; and when I met with him myself, I saw such things as I should have thought impossible, had my own eyes not witnessed them."

When the marshal heard this, he looked blacker than ever; and the first thing he did next morning was to send off messengers in every direction to inquire for a village called Scheveningen, and a man named Dirk Hogan. And, sure enough, some of them came back with news that there was such a village, and that Dirk Hogan, the smith, had been living there quite lately; but that now he had sold his forge and gone away, and nobody knew what had become of him.

This was a decided disappointment for our friend Saxe, but he had something else to think of just then. The enemy's army had lately received strong re-inforcements, and seemed inclined to attack him; and he was riding out one morning to reconnoiter their position, when suddenly his horse stumbled and cast a shoe.

"There's a village just ahead of us, your Excellency," said one of the officers. "Shall I ride on and see if I can find a blacksmith?"

"Do so" answered Saxe; and the officer came back presently to say that he had found what he wanted. So the horse was led up to the door of the smithy, and the smith himself came out to have a look at it.

The moment he appeared, the marshal fastened his eyes upon him as if he would look him right through. And well he might; for this smith was such a man as one does not see every day—very nearly as tall as Saxe himself, and even broader across the shoulders, while upon his bare arms the huge muscles stood out under the tanned skin like coils of rope. The marshal felt at once that he could never be comfortable till he had had a trial of strength with this sturdy-looking fellow; so he bade him bring out one of his best horse-shoes.

The smith did so; and Saxe, looking at it said quietly: "This ware of yours is but poor stuff, my friend; it will not stand work. Look here!"

He took it in his strong hands, and with one twist broke the iron like a biscuit.

The smith looked at him for a moment, and then, without seeming at all taken aback, brought out a second horse-shoe, and a third; but Saxe broke them as easily as he had broken the first.

"Come," said he, "I see it's no use picking and choosing among such a trashy lot: give me the first shoe that comes to hand, and we'll cry quits."

The smith produced a fourth shoe, and fitted it on; and Saxe tossed him a French crown—a coin about the size of a silver dollar. The Dutchman held it up to the light, and shook his head.

"This coin of yours is but poor me'al, mynheer," said he, saying the words just as the marshal had spoken his. "It wont stand work. Look here!"

He took the coin between his finger and thumb, and with one pinch cracked it in two like a wafer.

It was now the marshal's turn to stare; and the officers exchanged winks behind his back, as much as to say their champion had met his match at last. Saxe brought out another crown, and then a third; but the smith served them in like manner.

"Come," said he, imitating the marshal's voice to perfection, "I see its no use picking and choosing among such a trashy lot. Give me the first crown that comes to hand, and we'll cry quits."

The Frenchman looked at the Dutchman—the Dutchman looked at the Frenchman—and then both burst into a roar of laughter, so loud and hearty that the officers who stood by could not help joining in.

"Fairly caught!" cried the marshal, suddenly, and added, "What's your name, my fine fellow?"

"Dirk Hogan, from Scheveningen."

"Dirk Hogan!" cried Saxe. "The very man I've been looking for! But I've found him in a way I didn't expect!"

"So it seems," said the smith, grinning. "I needn't ask who you are—you're the Count de Saxe, who was always wanting to meet with a stronger man than himself. Does it seem to you as if you have met with him now?"

"Well, I rather think it does," quoth Saxe shrugging his shoulders; "and as I promised to give him my purse, whenever I did meet with him, here it is. And now, if you'll come along with me, and serve as farrier to my head quarters' staff, I promise you that you shall never have cause to repent of having met with Maurice de Saxe.

And the marshal was as good as his word. —St. Nicholas for April.

Anecdote of O'Connell.

During the repeal agitation in Ireland a gentleman connected with the Times was sent by that journal to report O'Connell's rather treasonable speeches. One of the first meetings the newspaper men attenden was in Kerry. Having heard of O'Connell's polite qualities, he thought he would ask that gentleman's permission to take a verbatim report of the oration. The "Liberator" not only consented, but, in his oiliest manner, informed the assembled audience that "until that gintleman was provided with all writing conveniences he would not speak a word," assuming an extra brogue which was altogether unnecessary. The reporter was delighted. The preparations began, and were completed. The reporter was ready. "Are you quite ready?" asked Dan. "Quite ready." "Now, are you sure you are entirely ready?" "I am certain, sir, yes." The crowd becoming excited and impatient, O'Connell said: "Now, 'pon my conscience, I won't begin the speech until the London gintleman is entirely ready." After waiting another moment or so, O'Connell advanced; eyes glistened; ears were all attention, and the reportial pencil arouse. O'Connell gave one more benignant smile on the reporter, winked at the auditors, and commenced his speech in the native Irish language, to the irrepressible horror of the reporter, and to the infinite delight of all Kerry.

A Remarkable Experiment at Sea.

A novel application of oil was recently made by Capt. Betts, of the King Cenric, a fine wooden ship of 1,940 tons, which has recently arrived at Bombay from Liverpool with a cargo of coal. Common pine oil was used in a heavy gale of wind to prevent the sea breaking on board, and with perfect success. The gale lasted for nearly five days, and regard with determined violence. It had lasted some little time when the chief officer, Mr. Bowyer, bethought himself of a plan he had seen tried on some occasions when in the Atlantic trade to prevent the sea breaking in. He proposed to the captain that the plan should be tried, and the suggestion was followed. Mr. Boyer got out two canvas clothes bags, and into each poured two gallows of pine oil. He punctured the bags slightly, and flung one over each quarter, towing them along. The effect was magical. The waves no longer broke against the poop and the side of the ship, but at yards and yards away, where the oil spread itself over the surface of the water. Around the poop, in the wake of the vessel, was a large circuit of calm water. The crew were thus able to repair damages with greater ease, the ship was relieved of those tremendous shocks received from the mass of waters which poured over her quarters and stern, and the danger was considerably lessened. The two bags lasted two days, after which the worst fury of the gale having expended itself, no more oil was used. Four gallons of oil, scarcely worth 30s., perhaps saved the King Cenric, its cargo, and the lives of the crew.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

GREAT TRUNK LINE AND UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

Construction and Equipment

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE SAFETY APPLIANCES

in use on this line well illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis and St. Louis, and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

WITHOUT CHANGE,

THE SCENERY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "the survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot supersede a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could ever grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

AN OPEN LETTER It Speaks for Itself.

ROCKPORT, MASS., April 2, 1877.

MR. EDITOR:—Having read in your paper reports of the remarkable cures of Catarrh, I am induced to tell what I know about Catarrh, and I have the "snuff" and "inhaling-tube" makers (more dollar grabbers) would be glad if they could embazon a similar cure in the papers. For 25 years I suffered with catarrh. The nasal passages became completely closed. "Snuff," "dust," "ashes," "inhaling-tubes" and "sticks," wouldn't work, though at intervals I would snuff up the so-called catarrh snuff, until I became a valuable tester for such medicines. I gradually grew worse, and no one can know how much I suffered or what a miserable being I was. My head ached over my eyes, I was confined to my bed for many successive days, suffering the most intense pain, which at one time lasted continuously for 168 hours. All sense of smell and taste gone, sight and hearing impaired, body shrunken and weakened, nervous system shattered, constitution broken, and I was hawking and spitting seven-eighths of the time. I prayed for death to relieve me of my suffering. A favorable notice in your paper of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy induced me to purchase a package, and use it with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, which applies the remedy by hydrostatic press-ure, the only way compatible with common sense. Well, Mr. Editor it did not cure me three-fourths of a second, nor in one hour nor one day, but in less than fifteen minutes I was relieved and in three months entirely cured, and have remained so for over sixteen months. While using the Catarrh Remedy, I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to purify my blood and strengthen my stomach. I also kept my liver active and bowels regular by the use of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets. If my experience will induce other sufferers to seek the same means of relief, this letter will have answered its purpose.

Yours truly,

L. D. REMICK.

Golden Medical Discovery Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers; Old Sores; Blotches, Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness; Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

While it cleanses the blood, and expels all impurities, from whatever cause arising, and from whatever constitutional taint or disease it may have been inherited, it also tones the general system. A few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect a complete cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, coated tongue, alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and unnatural craving, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint," only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

CHEAP KANSAS LANDS!!

We own and control the Railway lands of Trego County, Kansas, most equally divided by the Kansas Pacific Railway, which we are selling at an average of $3 per acre on easy terms of payment. Alternate sections of government lands can be taken as homesteads by actual settlers.

These lands lie in the great Limestone Belt of Central Kansas, the best winter wheat producing district of the United States, yielding from 20 to 35 Bushels per Acre.

The average yearly rainfall in this county is nearly 33 inches per annum, one-third greater than in the much-extolled Arkansas Valley, which has a yearly rainfall of less than 25 inches per annum in the same longitude.

Stock Raising and Wool Growing are very Remunerative. The winters are short and mild. Stock will live all the year on the nutritious grasses. Springs and Springs are numerous. Pure water is found in wells from 20 to 60 feet deep. The Healthiest Climate in the World! No fever and ague here. No muddy or impassable roads. Plenty of fine building stone, lime and sand. These lands are being rapidly settled by the best class of Northern and Eastern people, and will so appreciate in value by the improvements now being made as to make their purchase of present prices one the very best investments that can be made. Aside from the profits to be derived from their cultivation. Members of our firm reside in Wa-Keeney, and will show lands at any time. A pamphlet, giving full information in regard to soil, climate, water supply, &c., will be sent free on request. Address

Warren Keeney & Co., 106 Dearborn St., Chicago, Or Wa-Keeney, Trego Co., Kansas.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having written that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, weighed it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. Its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not afford to offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which the Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Prolapsus, or Falling Down, Retroversion, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Pain in the Back, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Hysteria, Misanthropy, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Ovaries, Female Weakness, Irritation and Scirrhus, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all "Female Complaints," from whatever cause arising, and of whatever nature or degree, the Favorite Prescription is unsurpassed for its wonderful power to cure—the marvel of the world. This medicine is not recommended as a cure-all, but it does positively do one work perfectly, and that is a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic affections of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which will be sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. Address as above.

FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules, or THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The necessity of modern Medical, Chemical and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer having the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of crude, and bulky ingredients, which were, even in the days of Benjamin Franklin, considered a "barbarous practice," to administer. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the result of the most advanced medical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them in a minute granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, and can be readily swallowed by those of the most delicate stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is contained in any of the large pills found for sale in country stores. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to
